
BRE Announce successful initial Green Deal Accreditation Application

With the Green Deal launch rapidly approaching BRE Global recently announced that we have been confirmed by UKAS of one of the first Green Deal Certification Bodies and have been listed on the national Green Deal register by the Green Deal Oversight and Registration Body: www.greendealorb.co.uk

The UKAS pilot was an extensive review of our scheme procedures and processes and also included a review of a live application to ensure that the required rigour was evident during the application process and that all aspects of the Specification for Certification Bodies Certifying the Green Deal Advice Service were successfully applied during the application process. We are extremely pleased to announce that Reporting Ltd worked with BRE Global throughout the pilot programme and has successfully completed the initial assessment process and will be the first GDAS organisation to receive Certification through BRE Global once the process of registration with Gemserv has been completed. We wish Reporting Ltd every success in the time ahead, with offering Green Deal Advisor services to the market place from 1st October onwards.

Andy Butterfield, Associate Director at BRE Global commented, "We are very pleased to have worked with Reporting Ltd through the pilot programme and this marks an important step forward as we move ever closer to Green Deal implementation. Working with Reporting Ltd enabled us to understand how SMEs are able to implement the requirements of the Specification for Organisations providing the Green Deal Advice Service."

Ian Williams, Managing Director of Reporting Ltd wanted to become involved in the Green Deal initiative from its early stages. 'As a company we are very keen to engage in the Green Deal market at an early stage and to provide Green Deal Advisor services to many of the larger Green Deal Provider organisations who are likely to drive the market. We are keen to be able to provide an independent solution to allow installers and independent assessors to become involved in the Green Deal process, without having to become a Green Deal Advisor Organisation in their own right'.

Reporting Ltd was set up in 2007 and has developed its own quality management systems and internal auditing procedures. The company has reviewed and extended these procedures and systems in the light of the Green Deal and is now setting up links with utility companies and installers. Reporting Ltd is looking to provide highly experienced surveyors and assessors across the country.
